Practical Ideas and Strategies

This outstanding seminar by nationally known world language teacher BRYCE HEDSTROM has been specifically designed to help you more effectively teach for proficiency and achieve the goal of using the target language 90% of the time. Bryce will present dozens of practical ideas for strengthening your world language instruction to increase students’ success in the target language. You’ll learn practical tips, activities, assignments, and strategies to more successfully engage all students, including beginners, in the target language.

Bryce will present, model and provide opportunities to practice activities and techniques during the seminar. Explore ways to integrate students’ personal identities into the fabric of your class and make each student feel like the most important one in the room. Discover questioning and follow-up questioning strategies that will engage all students and help them get to know, like, and respect each other better – all in the target language!

A Message From Seminar Leader, Bryce Hedstrom

Uniquely Qualified Instructor

BRYCE HEDSTROM is widely recognized as an outstanding world language teacher with more than 25 years of experience at all levels. A frequent regional, state and national presenter, he is known for helping world language teachers enhance their existing programs by incorporating many strategies that emphasize social awareness, interpersonal communication and varied reading techniques in the classroom.

Bryce is the author of Best, Most Powerful Strategies for Teaching World Languages (Grades 6-12), the extensive digital resource handbook you will receive at the seminar. In addition, he is the author of many world language instructional materials, teacher resources and fiction and non-fiction resources for students.

Bryce's seminars emphasize practical and time-efficient strategies – all proven successful in his own classroom – that give teachers a vast array of methods and materials to significantly improve student participation, leading to their more proficient use of the target language. You will leave Bryce's seminar rejuvenated and eager to implement new strategies and ideas in your own world language classroom.

Dear Colleague:

Some teachers seem to be born to teach. I was not one of those people. I always longed to be an effective teacher, but for years I honestly was not as effective as I wanted to be. With the help of colleagues and seminars like this one, I learned techniques that worked. Later, I developed many additional strategies of my own. I've designed this seminar to increase your learning curve and increase your teaching options by sharing the best of what I've found really works.

The focus of our day will be on practical strategies and techniques that will enhance your teaching for proficiency and boost your students' language acquisition in equitable, engaging and effective ways. This is not theory for me – I use each of these methods in my daily classes. The techniques I will share with you are grounded in current best practices of world language instruction, the latest brain research and years of practical application. You will get the kind of insight and advice that only an experienced teacher can provide.

This seminar will include practical ideas that will help you enhance your delivery of compelling, comprehensible input to your student on a sustainable basis. Classroom management, reading strategies and personalization are especially areas I have been able to help teachers the most, and I will share my very best ideas with you.

I am confident that you will leave this seminar energized and eager to add many new, practical ideas to your own teaching repertoire. You'll leave with many additional strategies for creating a proficiency-focused, humane, inclusive learning environment where all students want to attend your class and feel motivated to learn the language.

I look forward to spending the day with you!

Sincerely,

Bryce Hedstrom

P.S. The emphasis will be on practical strategies that you can start using the very next day in your own classroom.

"The focus of our day will be on practical strategies and techniques that will enhance your teaching for proficiency and boost your students' language acquisition."
