Practical Ideas and Strategies

We all want to know how to reach our students who are unmotivated, underperforming and claim to not care about school. This powerful, practical, entertaining, and inspiring seminar will demonstrate successful strategies you can use in your classroom or school to make positive, lasting changes for your challenging students. Many of us are frustrated with the numerous students who have “checked out,” are disengaged, unmotivated, and underperforming. In COVID these challenges have only increased. We know the symptoms, but don’t always know the solutions. The good news is that there is hope and there are strategies to begin to stop the cycle of helplessness these students experience. Join outstanding educator and behavior expert KIM GEDDIE for this one day seminar that will not only cover practical ideas, strategies, and techniques to help increase your success with these challenging students but will also transform how you respond to your students and how you teach. Kim will give you numerous practical ideas and strategies to help you guide students toward making positive changes in their thinking that result in lasting, positive behavior changes.

A Message From Seminar Leader, Kim Geddie

Uniquely Qualified Instructor

KIM GEDDIE is a dynamic, experienced teacher and international presenter. The strategies Kim presents are those that she and the teachers and schools she has supported across the country have found to be most effective with “I don’t care” and underperforming students. Kim is passionate about helping fellow educators better reach their challenging and disengaged students to maximize their success. Kim specializes in presenting practical, realistic strategies and activities that are high impact, low prep and effective in reaching underperforming students. She is also the author of Powerful, Practical Strategies for Increasing Success with “I Don’t Care!” and Underperforming Students (Grades 3-12), the extensive digital resource handbook you will receive at the seminar. Audiences appreciate Kim’s down-to-earth style and practical approach in dealing with difficult, disengaged students. Join Kim for a fast-paced day full of practical, highly effective strategies and activities that you can immediately use with students who come to school or class with an “I don’t care” attitude.”

Dear Colleague:

Are you tired of the increasing number of students that come to school angry, hostile, disinterested, unmotivated, disconnected, and with an “I don’t care” attitude? Are you seeing an increase in the variety of challenges and frustrations you face in the classroom? Are you experiencing additional challenges resulting from COVID?

As educators, we share many of the same frustrations and have many of the same questions about how to successfully teach disengaged, uncaring students. These challenges include:

- How can I teach when students are disrespectful, disruptive, disinterested or simply don’t care?
- How can I successfully deal with classroom challenges and disruptions?
- What do I do when students “push my buttons?”
- How do I deal with disrespectful students without losing credibility or authority with my other students?
- How can I avoid power struggles?

This workshop is for you! I appreciate your desire to experience a seminar designed to help difficult, disengaged, uncaring students find more success in school and life. I have designed this seminar to help you not only deal with students who don’t care but also to develop the skills and attitude to make it less likely that challenges will occur in the future.

I have worked successfully with challenging students for many years, students who are angry and disruptive, students who have poor self-management, attention focus, communication, and goal-setting skills. I have designed this seminar to share the ideas, strategies, techniques, and methods I have seen work with even the most challenging, disengaged students.

The emphasis of this seminar will be on practical and proven techniques that are successful with even the most challenging, disengaged students. Please join me and discover practical, common-sense ways that we can successfully deal with and help students who come to school or class with an “I don’t care” attitude.

Sincerely,

Kim Geddie

P.S. Invest a day with me and gain effective, practical strategies that can make a life-changing difference for the students with whom you work.

“The emphasis of this seminar will be on practical and proven techniques that are successful with even the most challenging, disengaged students.”
